Design with the personal touch

We pride ourselves on our personal approach and accessibility with each of our clients, keeping all of our core services in-house. This means leaving jargon at the door and making sure you are always in the loop. We strive hard to form long-term relationships, and are delighted to have worked with a number of clients for more than twenty years.

We are committed to providing a high quality, bespoke service whereby every client has direct access to our hands-on leadership team, senior designers, developers and marketing specialists.

Drawing on experience

All of the specialists involved with Chrysalis Yacht Design are able to demonstrate an individual provenance and body of work. The community of specialists who join together as a bespoke team will realise and deliver an outstanding client project. This may be the creation of a completely bespoke yacht or work with builders who are offering semi-custom yachts and need to engage a design team for fit-out and the all-important project management.

At the same time as the global yacht fleet is growing rapidly, older yachts need extensive refits in ten-year cycles and new yacht owners in the brokerage arena will want to add their personality plus new equipment and toys. Chrysalis Yacht Design and the support team have many years of experience in refit programmes of all sizes.

Let your dreams guide you

The art of yacht design encompasses several different elements, including Program and Design, styling and detailing, color selection, and functionality. A well-designed yacht can be considered a work of art in its own right.

Overall, the art of yacht design involves balancing aesthetics with practicality to create a space that is both beautiful and functional. A skilled yacht designer will work closely with their clients to understand their needs and preferences, and will provide a comprehensive and enjoyable experience for the owner and their guests.
